Actions Aligned

With the Creation of an Enlightened Planetary Civilization

- Create international pen/fax/computer pals (with translation services or as part of a language class) for students in secondary schools from all countries. Use socially aware prompting questions to initiate the interchanges. EXAMPLE: "Sometimes I worry about the future and wonder if anything can be done..."
- Create multi-media study modules to teach manners as practiced in various parts of the world and explore different cultures' procedures for making introductions.
- Educate people to spend their money the same way they would cast their votes.
- Replace anti-drug propaganda and pro-drug propaganda with truthful educational programs about the effects of drug use. Include tobacco, alcohol, and caffeine.
- Support the concept of doing amends to right wrongs instead of incarceration, especially for non-violent crimes.
- Create a forum (brain trust) for ideas and projects to make a better world.
- Use media and the arts to correct the misconception that things can make you happy. Volunteer in a hospice or hospital.
- Support environmental cleanup, recycling and reclamation projects that employ able-bodied welfare recipients and/or incarcerated prisoners.
- Support educational programs and materials that teach study skills (responsibility) and that explore belief systems rather than present them as truth or indoctrinations.
- Create in-house seminars or multi-media study modules to teach cooperation skills and compassion skills to children and adults.
- Create youth programs that offer intercultural work and living exchanges.
- Support a national tax incentive program that allows deductions to individuals who can pass a proficiency exam in speaking a second language.
- Create study programs that explore the concept of responsibility.
- Develop a protocol that allows group leaders to cooperate and exchange ideas and that circumvents individual ego and assertions of rightness.
- Conduct objective studies to determine what effect, if any, that aligned group meditations have on action and events.
- Create peace pilgrimages to troubled areas.
- Encourage and financially support books, plays, scripts, articles that raise people's awareness as well as entertain.
- Learn "hello," "friend" and "thank you" in as many foreign languages as you can.
- Support government grants for the arts only for works that set forth responsible themes, i.e., forgiveness, tolerance, increased awareness, compassion.
- Create a UN managed international adoption agency.
- Validate celebrities who use their fame to promote good works.
- Create neighborhood groups to share information, services, and make co-op purchases.
- Create a non-biased company that rates the effective use of donations by charitable organizations to alleviate human suffering.
- Validate media that run good news stories (notify companies that sponsor such programs that you support them and make them successful by buying their products).
- Hold up as exemplary any act of love, kindness, or selflessness.
- Encourage TV stations to run public service messages that teach key phrases and words in foreign languages (could also be included in all media advertisements, bubble gum papers, etc.).
- Support legislation that requires a certain minimal amount of recycled material in new products.
